MacArthur's Knuckles Hit Anew

Diplomats Dislike Peace Statement

WASHINGTON, March 27—A high military source said today that Gen. Douglas MacArthur has been ordered by the Joint Chiefs of Staff to clear through Washington any future statements on political aspects of the Korean war.

The action was reported to have resulted from MacArthur's recent "peace appeal" to the Chinese Communists. Sources said that this statement by the general was not cleared with the Pentagon nor approved by the State Department.

In his statement, MacArthur called for a Chinese surrender in the field and implied that the United Nations forces could bring about the military collapse of Red China itself.

The Defense Department officially would concede only that the order "may" have been sent to MacArthur. This attitude of an official spokesman indicated that the Joint Chiefs would not have sent a directive on their own initiative or for military reasons.

THE SPOKESMAN made it plain that any directive to MacArthur concerning peace talks had to come from tremendous pressure on the part of the State Department.

Great Britain reportedly is extremely concerned about the general's remarks as they apply to China proper. The British are fearful that any implication of war on Communist China itself might lead to a Red attempt to seize the crown colony of Hong Kong.

In Tokyo, however, MacArthur's statement was greeted enthusiastically.

Allied officials there expressed amazement that the State Department has failed to support the action, and the Japanese press hailed the general's move.

MacArthur's call for a Chinese surrender in the field is being placed before Chinese troops in Korea by every available means today while Tokyo debates Washington's apparently cool reception of the statement.

It is the view of Tokyo military officials.

Chillicothe Fliers Give Alarm In $30,000 Fire

A pair of Chillicothe fliers early Tuesday gave the alarm in an estimated $30,000 farm barn fire at Robtown, about 12 miles northwest of Circleville.

Richard Gunlock and Barton Cook, both of near Chillicothe, reportedly were flying at about 2,000 feet over Robtown at about 10:30 a. m. Tuesday when they spotted smoke from a barn.

Landing in a nearby field, the fliers ran to the house to give the alarm. Circleville and Harrisburg fire departments were summoned to give aid. The departments helped save some nearby buildings.

The fire occurred in a large barn on the Mrs. George Peters farm at Robtown, officials said. The farm is known as the "Doc" Peters farm.

Firemen estimated damage by the fire at about $30,000, counting $20,000 for the barn and $10,000 for its contents.

Housed in the barn and destroyed by the blaze were a hay baler valued at $2,500; a $1,500 truck; small tools valued at about $100; a $2,000 corn picker; a $300 tractor; a $250 power mower; 100 bales of hay valued at about $100; a thousand bales of straw valued at about $600; and five hog feeders valued at about $200.

Loss of the barn itself, a 160x80 foot building, was estimated at about $20,000.

Authorities said that a man had fed cattle in a nearby lot about 15 minutes before the fire was spotted by the fliers but he said he had not seen the fire.

Cause of the fire was not immediately determined.

FEPC Bills Are Studied

State Legislature Has 3 Measures

COLUMBUS, March 27—Three fair employment practices bills locked in the Ohio house reference committee since they were introduced in January were expected to be sent to standing committee for full and open hearings today.

Best favored the judiciary committee as the group to consider the bills, although they may go to the committee on industry and labor.

The action followed a threat expressed by Rep. Lowell Fess (R-Greene), author of one of the measures, that he would hold up all bills in the enrollment committee which he heads until the FEPC bills were assigned for hearing.

The enrollment committee scans all bills to see that they are in proper form after they are passed by both houses and before they are signed by the presiding officers of the house and senate.

The Fess bill has as its co-author Rep. Joseph Schwartz (R-Hamilton). Like the bill of Reps. Michael Damas (D-Lucas) and Joseph Aveillon (D-Cuyahoga), it is a so-called "compulsory" measure. By contrast, the bill of Rep. Arthur Herman (R-Auglaize) is an "educational" proposal.

MEANWHILE, house committees get to work tonight on proposals to re-divide the state into 23 congressional districts and to levy a ton-mile tax on heavy motor trucks.

The senate financial institutions committee meanwhile is conducting its first hearing on a bill, sponsored by employers' groups and introduced by Sen. Robert Pollock (R-Canton) to tighten up payments under the unemployment compensation laws.

The bill, certain to be fought bitterly by labor forces, would disqualify those who quit their jobs or who are fired for just cause; eliminate the present dependency benefits of up to $5 a week for two children; and require a person to be employed for 20 weeks, instead of 14, before becoming eligible for jobless pay.

Yugoslavia Ousts Bulgaria Envoy

BELGRADE, March 27—Bulgaria's charge d'affaires in Belgrade, Marko Temjanov, began packing his bags today on order from the Yugoslav government to leave as soon as possible.

The Yugoslav news agency Tanjug, in a report on the continuing war of nerves between Belgrade and its Cominform neighbors, said Bulgaria has "refused further hospitality" to the Yugoslav charge d'affaires in Sofia, Petar Ivkovich.

Key To 'What's Cooking' Is Scheduled For Unveiling In Memorial Hall Here

Hustle and bustle of the busy kitchen, gifts galore and the key to what's cooking in 1951 will greet Pickaway County homemakers Tuesday night during the first of a three-day Food Institute program in Memorial Hall.

This year's Circleville cooking school, by actual registration the largest single school of its type in the state, will begin officially at 8 p. m. Tuesday.

Doors to Memorial Hall will be opened at 7 p. m., however, to take care of the hundreds of local homemakers expected to benefit by the session.

Theme for the opening program will be "The Key To A Man's Heart," presented first in a pantomime sketch and followed with the actual ingredients which insure the heart-winning job.

And the men have been invited especially to the session to find out just what they may expect on the dinner table during the next few weeks.

The increasingly popular cooking school is sponsored again this year by The Circleville Herald and the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. with cooperation of the local merchants.

In addition to introducing new recipes, the cooking school will show the convenient and economical features of cooking with the "top range," "oven" and "broiler" areas of automatic ranges.

Assisting with that demonstration will be Miss Shirley Burns, the "Betty Newton" for the gas company in Circleville.

Dan McClain, manager of the local gas company, will welcome homemakers to this year's cooking school.

Lecturer for the program will be Miss Enid Parrett, while Fred Barthelmas, manager for the sessions, will serve in the role of "helpful" male amateur cook.

This year's cooking school will be introduced with a pantomime sketch by Miss Parrett and Barthelmas on the theme for the session, "Way To A Man's Heart."

Barthelmas will be no stranger.

Ohio Punks Foul Probe

Gamblers Object To Public Hearing

WASHINGTON, March 27—Two Cleveland gamblers challenged the right of Congress today to televise, broadcast or make newsreels of their appearances before a Senate committee.

The historic challenge was made by Louis Rothkopf and Morris Kleinman, gambling partners with interests in six states, who claim the presence of television, newsreel and radio microphones are an invasion of their privacy.

They were arrested under "missing witness" warrants the Senate had voted earlier and held under $10,000 bail each last night. They were ordered to reappear before the Senate Crime Committee Friday.

The incident may produce the first legal test on the issue of whether televising, broadcasting and newsreel photography deprives a witness before a congressional committee of his constitutional rights by invading his privacy.

THE PAIR emphasized in their protests that they would be "commercialized" unwillingly through the showing of television "in saloons and restaurants" and the showing of newsreels and television in theaters. Both also objected to radio broadcasts.

The committee, whose open hearings throughout the nation during the last year have had the prominent, the notorious and the anonymous sweating in the publicity of the witness stand, now faces the tremendous job of doing something about crime.

It can recommend crime-deterrent legislation, or it can write it.

It can point to evidence it uncovered that crime is not just a local matter, but nationwide in scope and connections, and it can point up the need for anti-crime vigilance on the part of John Citizen.

Probers Admit They Receive Some 'Threats'

WASHINGTON, March 27—Sen. Tobey, (R) N. H., disclosed today that he has had three threats to his "personal safety" as a result of his crime probe activities, and that they are being investigated.

Tobey said that two of the threats were contained in letters, one handwritten, and one typed, and the other was delivered by telephone.

Asked whether he took the threats seriously, Tobey replied: "I took them seriously enough to have them looked into."

He refused to discuss the contents of the letters or to say what agency is investigating them.

Committee Chairman Kefauver, (D) Tenn., said he had received some threatening letters, but he had decided they were the work of "crackpots."

Sen. Hunt, (D) Wyo., said he had received an "injudiciously written" typed letter from Miami saying that "people who stuck their noses in other people's business very often have unhappy endings."

PROSECUTOR DETAILS OUTFIT

New 'Alcometer' To Aid War Against Drunks Here

Pickaway County officials soon will be able to state on a moment's notice whether a drunken driving suspect has been making too free with the wassail.

The authoritative statement will come after officials read the dials on a gadget which records the alcoholic content of the blood through analysis of the suspect's breath.

The gadget, called an "Alcometer," has been ordered by County Prosecutor Guy Cline and will be only the second or third such instrument available to Ohio lawmen.

"We should get it in about 60 days," he said.

Cline described the instrument as a 55-pound aluminum cabinet with a panel board set at a 45 degree angle. The operating controls are on the panel.

"THE THING is electrically operated, and contains, besides solenoid valves, photo electric cells, glassware and meters, a precision pump calibrated to deliver a fixed volume of air through a sample.

"The primary purpose of the device is to protect the innocent," explained Cline. "It will also provide irrefutable evidence of intoxication.

Joe Anastasia Nabbed By Cops

NEW YORK, March 27—Joseph Anastasia, brother of waterfront czars Albert and Anthony Anastasia, was picked up early today by Brooklyn police and held for U. S. immigration authorities in connection with illegal entry charges.

Anthony Anastasia told the Kefauver committee last week that he, Albert and three other brothers entered the United States originally by jumping ship. Albert was described to the committee by former Mayor O'Dwyer as the "lord high executioner" of the infamous Murder, Inc.

Yanks Trap Red Units

South Of Border Being Cleaned Up

TOKYO, March 28—(Wednesday)—Tank-tipped American columns trapped three Chinese Red battalions on Korea's western front Tuesday and ran into outposts of an estimated 90,000 Communists arrayed just south and north of Parallel 38.

An Allied division spokesman on the central front estimated that 90,000 Chinese Communist soldiers were massed in the Chunchon-Hwachon-Kumwha area in front of UN troops pressing north from Chunchon.

The spokesman said 10,000 of the enemy troops were south of the parallel between Chunchon and the Pukhan river while the remaining 80,000 were poised for action north of the boundary.

Seven of eight Allied patrols fanning out from Chunchon rammed up against heavy Red fire well below the parallel.

UN troops reverted to their highly successful "Operation Killer" tactics and withdrew to call down artillery barrages on the heads of the enemy.

ON THE WESTERN front, American armored columns trapped three Red battalions numbering about 2,000 men at a point three miles northeast of Uijongbu and 15 miles below Parallel 38.

In another action, west of Uijongbu and six miles below the border, Americans slashed into a second Chinese force, and killed 350 Reds.

Following the latter battle, an American staff officer was quoted in a Tuesday night field dispatch as saying that the Seventh Division of the Communist Chinese 26th Army (corps) has been "shattered."

"Possibly, the Chinese will not put up another major stand south of the 38th Parallel," said the officer. "But I think that if we hit them above the parallel, we will find them fighting like sons of guns."

The Reds were building up strength at various places just below the famed parallel. But it was believed possible that this might be a huge rearguard operation to permit time for the consolidation of bigger Chinese and North Korean buildups just north of the border.

Through Tuesday the UN offense chewed methodically deeper into the narrowing strip of enemy-held South Korean territory.

THE TRAPPING of the large Red force was reported in a Tuesday night dispatch from the front north of Seoul.

Aluminum Use Law Tightened

WASHINGTON, March 27—The government today tightened its controls over aluminum production by reserving 45 to 75 percent of the output of sheet, tubing, and other products for military requirements.

The action effective April 1, applies to fabricated production of aluminum shapes and forms, which include rods, bars, wire, and cable as well as sheet and tubing.

The National Production Authority also increased from 25 to 45 percent the amount of aluminum products distributors and jobbers must set aside for military use.

10 MILES south of 38th parallel (1) the paratroopers who dropped on Munsan and the armored column which fought up through Uijongbu joined forces as the Chinese fled northward. South Korean forces crossed the 38th parallel on east coast (2), captured village. Commando force killed 100 Reds, captured 69 in a raid on coast (3).

Callousness Is Deplored

Senator Condemns 'Moral Blindness'

WASHINGTON, March 27—Senate Influence Probe Chairman Fulbright, (D Ark.), condemned today what he termed widespread governmental corruption and moral blindness or callousness with which high officials accept it.

Fulbright urged action to end nationwide "moral deterioration" in a Senate speech summing up his findings in the investigation of pull, politics and pressure in the Reconstruction Finance Corp.

The senator urged that a commission of non-political national leaders be named to find ways to keep the breakdown of moral standards from reaching its "logical conclusion—the destruction of our free Democratic system."

He suggested that such men as former Supreme Court Justice Owen Roberts, Labor Leader Walter Reuther, former Marshall Plan Chief Paul Hoffman and others of similar stature be drafted for the job.

Fulbright named no names in his speech on Washington's "moral climate," but his bitterness reached its climax in this paragraph:

"SCANDALS in our government are not new phenomena. What seems to be new about these scandals is the moral blindness or callousness which allows those in responsible positions to accept the practices which the facts reveal. It is bad (Continued on Page Two)

OPS Promises Rollback Of Food Prices

TIFFIN, March 27—The Office of Price Stabilization soon will roll back wholesale and retail prices on "60 percent of the items in the average family's market basket."

This statement came yesterday from John C. Weisert of the price control headquarters in Washington, addressing the second annual Heidelberg college business clinic here.

Weisert said "Further price rises in (food) would mean additional hardship, deprivation and even suffering for millions of persons on fixed income, and to millions of families that live on $3,000 or less per year."

Weisert is special assistant to Chief Price Stabilizer Michael V. DiSalle. He substituted for his boss, who was called back to Washington for a Senate committee conference today, before some 300 business and industrial executives from the Northern Ohio area.

China Reds Dump Tons On World

Revenue Agents Chasing Hoods

WASHINGTON, March 27—Narcotics Bureau Chief Harry J. Anslinger told the Senate Crime Committee today that the Chinese Reds have dumped a tremendous amount of opium on the world market.

Anslinger also pointed out that many of the top gangsters in the U. S. "dip into the narcotics traffic." He said that 200 of 800 names he had furnished the committee were of men with narcotics records.

The narcotics chief came before the committee as it wound up its public hearings of racketeers witnesses and began hearing recommendations of Treasury officials in its final open session.

Internal Revenue Commissioner George J. Schoenman said that "racketeers, gamblers and other hoodlums" will be hunted by special squads composed of agents who have demonstrated outstanding ability to crack through the false "financial fronts" of underworld figures.

SCHOENMAN TOLD the committee that the methods of screening all tax returns are being improved. Furthermore, he said, his agency has given the committee a confidential list of all racketeers and criminals being investigated.

Assistant Treasury Secretary Edward Foley then read to the committee a statement by Treasury Secretary Snyder which said that the Internal Revenue Bureau is creating a special fraud section to give attention to tax returns of gamblers and racketeers.

Snyder opposed creation of a permanent crime commission and urged that the committee continue its work to whatever extent its members can spare the time from their other duties.

Dwight E. Avis, enforcement officer of the Treasury alcohol unit, testified that legislation is needed to solve the problems of "local option" states which are being flooded with liquor from neighboring wet states.

Avis said that his bureau is tightening up identification requirements on the issuance of liquor dealers' tax stamps and recommended that liquor sales permits be renewed annually.

Anslinger declared:

"A DISTURBING matter now is that the Chinese Communists have offered for sale 500 tons of opium on the world market. That is a tremendous quantity and is equal to medical needs of the world for a year."

Anslinger said that, in addition to the opium traffic, his operatives have uncovered movements of heroin from a Tientsin laboratory. He said this drug has been smuggled to Japan and will find its way to the United States.

Anslinger, like FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover, called for local activity to help stamp out the narcotics traffic.

One trouble, he said is light sentences in courts. He advocated five years terms for the second offense, and ten years for the third.

He said it was his hope that larger cities will set up special drug squads to deal with small peddlers and leave the narcotics bureau's hands free to catch the large-scale operators.

The tax experts' appearance emphasized reports that some of the witnesses might be cited for income tax evasion as a result of committee disclosures. Gamblers and alleged racketeers were notably shy about answering fiscal questions, and Frank Costello refused to give the committee an estimate of his net worth.

Japanese Woman Judge Is Elated

COLUMBUS, March 27—One of Japan's three women judges found the most outstanding thing about American courts today is friendliness.

After a tour of Columbus courts yesterday, 27-year-old Mrs. Aiko Noda, judge of the family court in Tokyo, said:

"In my country I could not meet high officials so easily and they would not be so friendly or talk to us so freely."

tary quarters that the MacArthur document invades no political or diplomatic fields, despite a seeming belief in Washington that it does.

THE MACARTHUR statement, it is felt by those close to the UN commander, was phrased with utmost care to keep it within the prerogatives of a field commander.

Tokyo informants also emphasize that the wording of the MacArthur statement was chosen for its greatest impact on an Oriental audience. It is being given to that audience in radio broadcasts, in air-dropped pamphlets and in the air-dropped "morning newspaper" MacArthur's headquarters publishes for the Chinese soldiers.

Observers in Tokyo felt the statement was well designed to accomplish its purpose with the Chinese and was well within the prerogatives of a field commander.

It was pointed out that military commanders throughout history always have had the power to accept the surrender of their foes in the field.

And MacArthur offered to do just that on terms long ago enunciated by United Nations, not on terms that would be decided at a field conference between him and a Chinese military commander.

Neither could observers understand the objections to the "implied threat" of attack against China itself. MacArthur carefully made it clear in his statement that he was talking about a possibility inherent in warfare, the possibility of a revision of decisions made in earlier stages of the fighting.

Four Lodges Represented At KofP Ceremony

More than 55 men from four lodges were present during the Monday session, which was held in conjunction with the Fairway Auto League.

Knights from Circleville, Amada, Lancaster, Stoutsville, Canal Winchester, Columbus and Ashville were present for the ceremony.

Irvin Reid of Circleville was elected vice-president of the Fairway Auto League during the session. The office is new to the league.

In addition, the league issued invitations to K of P Lodges in Canal Winchester, Thurston and Millersport to join up. Next meeting of the league will be held April 27 in Stoutsville.

Esquire rank will be conferred upon Robert Ecard during the next meeting of the Circleville lodge at 8 p. m. Monday.

Building Permits Are Issued Here

Two permits have been issued for building projects in Circleville by the city planning and zoning commission.

The permits were issued to Joe Carpenter of South Pickaway street to build a single dwelling at an estimated cost of $8,000, and to George N. Brokaw and C. L. Brokaw of Laurelville to construct a $5,000 dwelling on Highland avenue.

enough for us to have corruption in our midst, but it is worse if it is to be condoned as inevitable."

Fulbright warned that the issue of moral strength he was raising had international meaning, since "a democracy can recover quickly from physical or economic disaster, but when its moral convictions weaken it becomes easy prey for the demagogue and the charlatan."

The senator said he wondered whether the American people have not come in recent years to accept "the totalitarian concept that the end justifies the means," and continued:

"Democracy, I believe is more likely to be destroyed by the perversion of, or abandonment of, its true moral principles than by armed attack from Russia. The evil and insidious materialism of the Communists is a greater danger to us than their guns."

$639 In Damages Asked In Farm Contract Dispute

A suit seeking $639.60 damages has been started in Pickaway County common pleas court by Walter J. Goodman against Frances R. and Robert J. Young.

Goodman's petition claims he entered into a land contract with the defendants Jan. 17 for purchase of their 208-acre farm in Clearcreek Township, Fairfield County, and certain chattel property.

Plaintiff claims he paid the balance due on the $43,500 purchase price March 1, and that he was given a warranty deed to the premises.

But, Goodman's petition continues, at the time the deed was delivered there was a tenant on the farm. The tenant stayed until March 19.

Plaintiff says this deprived him of complete possession of the farm for 18 days, putting him to an expense and inconvenience for which he claims $540 damages.

PLAINTIFF STATES that under the contract he purchased 100 bushels of corn, but on weighing it found only 84 bushels. For the undelivered 16 bushels he claims $27.20.

Goodman's petition states that under the contract he purchased a half interest in 57 shots, but that only 55 were delivered. He claims $20 damages for this.

The petition also claims the contract called for purchase of a half interest in a male hog, but that Goodman later found the defendants have no interest in the hog. Plaintiff asks $30 damages for this.

Goodman further states that under the contract he purchased a one half interest in some fertilizer stored on the farm, but later discovered the fertilizer had been removed. He claims $22.40 damages for this.

were caught by American tank-infantry forces smashing up from Allied-held Uijongbu and other units that rammed into the enemy's rear.

It was not immediately reported whether the troops that closed the steel trap in the north had driven east from Munsan or west from the central front.

After forging the fiery ring around the enemy battalions, the Americans gave the trapped Chinese a chance to fight and remain alive. Loudspeakers and leaflets called upon the Red to lay down their arms and surrender.

New Setup OK'd With Reference To Savings Bonds

WASHINGTON, March 27—President Truman has signed into law a bill which encourages present holders of the government's Series E savings bonds to hold on to the securities for another ten years.

The bill gives holders of the nearly $35 billion worth of Series E bonds three choices when their bonds mature. They can:

1. Hold on to their bonds for another ten years, or as long as they want to up to that maximum. In this case, the bonds will earn two and one-half percent interest for the first seven and one-half years, and then a higher rate for the final two and one-half years with the total interest averaging out to 2.9 percent—the same rate paid on Series E bonds in the past.

2. Exchange them on maturity for Series G bonds, which draw a flat two and a half percent interest payable every six months and can be cashed in anytime six months after the issue date.

3. Cash in their bonds at full face value on maturity, just as at present.

99 Pints Blood Donated Here To Red Cross Unit

Circleville failed to meet its Red Cross Blood bank program quota Monday during the March visit of the Bloodmobile in First Methodist church.

Only 99 pints of blood were collected during the Monday visit of the mobile unit. Quota for the visit was set at 125 pints.

Mrs. Tom A. Renick, chairman of the local program, said a total of 143 persons were scheduled to report as donors, although 33 persons who reported were unable to give because of illness.

Donor pins were received by the 99 persons who gave Monday. The pins are in the form of a drop of blood, with a small red cross in the center.

The pins, along with donor cards showing type and RH factor, will be mailed soon to everyone who has given blood this year.

The Bloodmobile's next visit into Pickaway County will be April 25 in Ashville. May visit of the unit will be in Circleville Trinity Lutheran church parish house.

Pickaway PMA Taking Signups On Conservation

Pickaway County's Price and Marketing Administration offices in Circleville will remain open all day Saturday to accept signups for the 1951 agricultural conservation program.

Local PMA officials said the office will observe the special hours in an effort to give local farmers a chance to beat the signup deadline.

Deadline for filing intentions in the 1951 conservation program is April 1. Local farmers wishing to comply with the conservation practice program this year for reimbursement next Spring must file their intentions in the local office before the deadline.

A total of 1,180 farms, 59.8 percent of the farms in the county, already have signed up for the conservation practices program.

Farmers have been approved for $123,317.60, PMA officials said, far over the $94,000 local budget.

In addition to staying open all day this Saturday, the local office in the future will remain open until noon every Saturday.

Personal Injury Claim OK'd By Local Court

Settlement of a claim for personal injuries to a minor for $490 has been approved by Judge George D. Young in Pickaway County probate court.

The claim grew out of an auto accident on Route 3, one mile north of Derby, Dec. 1, 1950. The minor, Mary Coey, 17, suffered injuries when the car in which she was riding and an auto operated by Clarence E. Boyer collided. No law suit on the claim was brought.

Boyer offered to settle for $490, while denying liability for the injuries. Application for authority to settle for that sum was made in probate court by Harry Coey, father of the injured girl.

Also in probate court a determination of inheritance tax due on the Lizzie Bell Ater estate has been filed. Required to pay the tax are Charles A. Ater, husband; Francis B. Ater, son; and Mabel M. Farmer, daughter. Each is to pay $16.79 tax on successions of $5,178.93.

Man Is Accused Of Non-Support

Hopes are high that this year's cooking school will exceed the record attendance figure of about 3,000 persons which was set during last year's Food Institute.

Last year's record crowd gave the Circleville cooking school the distinction of having been the largest in the state.

Following up the opening session designed especially to whet the male appetite, the cooking school will present "Ruffles to Your Recipes" during its Wednesday night program and "The Blue Flame and Cinderella" for the final program Thursday night.

Daily gifts of merchandise from Circleville merchants will be an added attraction to the cooking school, along with a host of coveted "grand prizes" to be awarded during the final Thursday session.

Anyone who registers during any of the three food preparation sessions is eligible to take home some of the gifts.

Admission to the affair is free. Everyone attending the school will be given pamphlets containing the complete recipes of the dishes prepared during each program.

God Has Sense Of Humor, Local Club Is Told

"You don't have to be stern, straight-laced and aloof to believe in God—God has a sense of humor, too."

That was a statement made Monday night by John Heiskell, speaker during a "support your church" meeting of Circleville Kiwanis Club.

Heiskell, a leading layman in St. Philip's Episcopal church here, told Kiwanians "it is our spiritual feelings which are measured by God instead of the material gifts we might offer from sense of duty only."

"No loss in the world is so great as the loss of God," Heiskell said and added:

"Going to church on Sunday doesn't mean you are a Christian. You must follow the teachings of your church by action in order to really enjoy the spiritual happiness which only belief in God can award."

"We should think more about the greatest laws known to man, the Ten Commandments, and endeavor to follow them in our business and daily living."

"Two things in your life are certain, death and taxes. Don't put your faith in the gold standard, because it changes. Don't put your faith in banks, for they sometimes are broken. Put your faith in the Bank of God—it never fails."

NEW DICTIONARY NOTED

Greeks Had A Word, But Yanks Have A Lot More

CHICAGO, March 27 — Some one once said that the Greeks had a word for it, but Americans have gone the Greeks considerably better by coining literally thousands of words.

For a long time, scholars and lexicographers have debated just how extensive the English language has been.

Now the whole panorama of the birth and growth of a mighty nation—its works, its play, its songs and its habits—as evidence in its language has been gathered between the covers of a book.

The book is a massive, two-volume labor entitled "Dictionary of Americanisms," which will be published March 30 by the University of Chicago Press. Dr. Mitford M. Mathews, editor of the dictionary, and his staff spent six years compiling the dictionary said to be the first work to deal exclusively with American additions to the language.

EACH WORD OR phrase is traced from its first discovered appearance in print down to its most recent usage.

Unlike most dictionaries, it is a book with a sense of humor. The intrepid lexicographer defines the "midway" as follows: "Used allusively with reference to the University of Chicago . . . any place of cheap amusement."

Dr. Mathews and his staff found some of the material through the efforts of a number of volunteer amateur lexicographers—including one man serving a life sentence in prison. Thousands of books, newspapers,

Lad's Experiments Bring Arrest

CHICAGO, March 27—A 17-year-old brilliant high school pupil will be able to talk as much as he wants today about his favorite subject — chemistry — in Chicago boys court.

Police arrested John Chenelle last night to question him about a series of explosions which rocked the city's west side last week.

John, who will be graduated in June, admitted setting off more than 100 homemade bombs because he "likes noise."

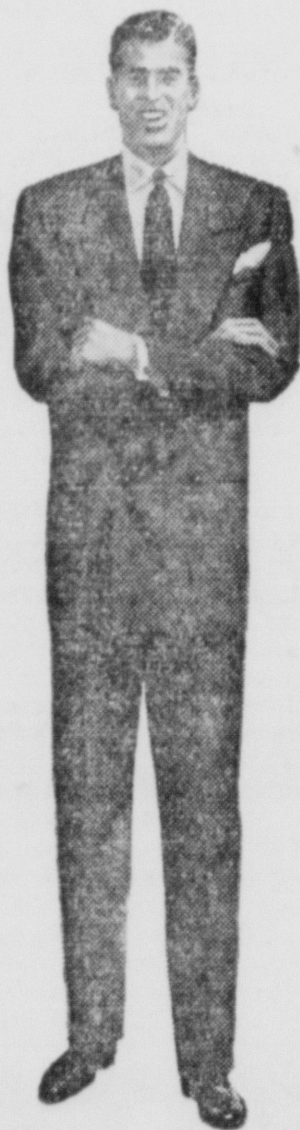

He insisted that he always was careful to design his chemical bombs so that they would not cause damage—just lots of racket.

Plenty Of Fuel Seen For Farm Machinery

WASHINGTON, March 27—Agriculture officials say there will be plenty of gasoline to keep farms running full blast this crop year.

Although farmers may be faced with occasional shortages of machinery and parts and some kinds of fertilizer, officials feel sure there will be no cut-backs on petroleum products.

This bit of advice comes in the face of a forecast that farmers will use more than 10 percent more petroleum products this year than in 1950 to meet mobilization demands.

Officials say that farmers have used 10 percent more petroleum products each year since 1947 than the year before. With the push for another record

He Put Money In Wrong Meter

CHICOPEE, Mass., March 27—Daniel Herlihy will appear in Chicopee district court today on an intoxication charge—if police can get him out of jail.

Herlihy, 27, was due to appear yesterday, but police couldn't open his cell. Officials explained that while Herlihy was in a rosy glow he thought he was parking his car and put a dime in the cell lock, jamming it.

They said Herlihy told them, "I must have put my money in the wrong meter."

volume of crops this year, farmers are expected to use even more of these products.

In 1950, farmers used 9.8 billion gallons of petroleum fuels, including gasoline, kerosene and liquid petroleum gas.

They used about 15 percent of the total amount consumed in the nation in 1950 for all purposes.

New Industry Holds Top Spot As Water User

One of Circleville's oldest industries must yield first place in daily water consumption to one of the city's newest firms.

In fact, John W. Eshelman and Sons, with a daily water use of 17,500 gallons, must drop back to fourth place, leaving Plastics Corporation of America in the first spot with a daily consumption of 90,000 gallons.

An original listing of water consumption by Circleville industries gave a water usage of 115,000 gallons for the Eshelman firm.

But a recheck of figures shows that the company uses only 17,500 gallons per day.

Container Corporation of America occupies second place with a daily water consumption of 72,000 gallons per day.

In third place is Circleville Lamp Works, 20,000 gallons per day. Following the Eshelman firm in fourth place comes Pickaway Dairy and Circleville public schools, each using 10,000 gallons per day.

Next comes Winorr Canning Co., 7,500 gallons; Mount of Praise, 5,900 gallons; Esmeralda Canning Co., 4,000 gallons; Pennsylvania Railroad, 4,000 gallons; Coca Cola Bottling Co., 3,400 gallons; and Softwater Service, 3,000 gallons.

Some authorities say mince pie originated in Germany.

Editors' Roundtable

"Editors' Roundtable" is a twice-a-week release based on a study of an average of about 150 daily newspaper editorial pages. The major issue of the day is analyzed and digested, passed on to readers as a survey of opinion from the nation's leading editors. It is the "voice of the press."

IRANIAN OIL

Most editors agree that the Iranian parliament's vote to nationalize the Anglo-Iranian Oil Co. was caused principally by nationalist sentiment rather than Communist influences. However, editors, in a substantial majority, fear that nationalization of Iranian oil would result in Russia gaining control of such oil and, eventually, full use thereof. Opinion now appears to be about equally divided on whether Iran is only trying to force a better royalty agreement with Britain, or whether she fully intends to go through with the nationalization.

DES MOINES Register (Ind.-Rep.): "Nationalization of British-owned Anglo-Iranian oil wells alone would not necessarily be a blow to the free world. The blow is in the fact that Russia will have engineered it if it comes. . . . Again it is Russia which has been able to get on the popular side of an issue in a primitive country. . . . Not so long ago the Russians concluded a trade agreement with Iran. They have managed to stir up a great deal of anti-British and anti-American feeling. They found a sure-fire propaganda theme with 'Iranian oil for Iranians.' Of course they really mean Iranian oil for Russia."

SAN FRANCISCO Chronicle (Ind.-Rep.): "The pressure that has been generating for nationalization of oil has not been wholly, or even primarily, Communist inspired. The Communists have fanned the feeling in every possible way, but the primary cause has been the yearning of the Iranians for control of their own . . . resources. There is not evident in this move any overwhelming impulse to kick over the Western affiliations entirely and move into the Soviet camp. The question is whether that may not be the result of circumstances that follow inevitably in the wake of the nationalization action."

BIRMINGHAM News (Ind.-Dem.): "A point offered in Iran—from an anonymous source—is that Russia had been planning to demand oil concessions to match those held by the British. Nationalization, it is said, might forestall such a demand, whereas an in-between Iran might have difficulty facing up to such a Soviet request if England still had a firm foot in Iran. But this explanation does not obviate the possibility the Soviet Union might still ask for an equal share of oil produced by a nationalized industry."

SHARON (Pa.) Herald (Ind.-Rep.): "Undoubtedly Iran can sell some oil to the Soviet Union. But . . . the limit is transport. Iran has few railroad tank cars. And no pipeline runs from Anglo-Iranian's refineries northward to Russia's borders. Engineers are emphatic in saying none could be built in less than two or three years. . . . Consequently, for the immediate future the prospects are good that the oil will continue to go to present customers. Britain and the U.S. have the tanker fleet to take it from Iran's shores."

SALT LAKE CITY Tribune (Ind.): "The Iranian parliament has instructed the government to employ 'foreign' specialists to show the natives how to prospect for and process the oil. Under present tensions, these specialists are not likely to be British or American. Without firing a shot or becoming directly involved in the assassination of the Iranian premier—opening the way for nationalization—Russia could gain control of the oil-rich, strategically important middle eastern country. . . . The west has hopes tied in the ability of the new premier, Hussein Ali, postwar ambassador to the U.S., to effect a compromise."

NORFOLK Virginian - Pilot (Ind.-Dem.): "There is some possibility that the vote was a maneuver to force more favorable terms from the Anglo-Iranian Company. . . . A supplemental agreement has been offered by the company which would double Iran's share in the earnings but this parliament will not accept. . . . A surge of popular sentiment . . . may make it very difficult for the Shah or the new prime minister to oppose the action. . . . The alternative, if there is one, is for the British to offer terms so generous that they will compete with nationalization in attractiveness."

HARTFORD Courant (Rep.): "The British unfortunately failed to follow the lead of the American oil companies that recently liberalized their contracts with the countries of the Middle East. . . . It was only when the Iranian demand for taking over the business reached its peak that the company suggested a 50-50 division of the profits. By that time the nationalists were unwilling to compromise. . . . The decision to nationalize . . . provides for a two-months period for working out the details. During those months we may expect some fast and furious bargaining behind the scenes."

The first patent for a refrigerating machine was granted to Dr. John Gorrie, Apalachicola, Fla., in 1851.

Indiana Teacher Pay Scale Hurts Ohio, Is Claim

COLUMBUS, March 27—The Ohio Education Association charged today that action of the Indiana Legislature increasing teachers' salaries posed "a serious threat to Ohio's teacher supply."

Association President John D. Blackford said "the Ohio Legislature can again put Ohio out in front again" by adopting the minimum salary schedule proposed now before the General Assembly.

Blackford stated that even the most remote communities of the Hoosier state can now offer beginning teacher salaries which are higher than those paid in 80 percent of Ohio's 200 city and exempted village school districts.

The Indiana Legislature increased teachers' salaries in all areas to $2475 for beginning teachers and provided yearly increases up to $3483. Ohio's proposed minimum is $2400 with a top of $4000.

Chaw Tobacco Helps Teeth?

WASHINGTON, March 27—If you're having trouble with decayed teeth, try chewing tobacco.

That's the advice today of the Public Health Service.

Dr. Bruce D. Forsyth, associate chief of the bureau of medical services, told that to a house appropriations subcommittee in testimony released today.

Dr. Forsyth admitted he didn't know whether the tobacco or the cleansing of the teeth by the chewing did the job.

Birthday Gift Offered For Sale

CHICAGO, March 27 — Mrs. Mary Fletcher is advertising for a buyer to take away the birthday present her husband, George, gave her last Summer.

The gift, purchased as a novelty, has lost none of its attractiveness, but it shows promise of getting out of hand. The advertisement reads:

"African lioness, Sheba, 10 mo. old. Hand raised, very tame, $500."

Chinese Reds To Intensify War In Korea

LONDON, March 27—The Peiping government today indirectly dismissed Gen. Douglas MacArthur's bid for a peace parley by placing continuance of the Korean war at the head of a list of five basic tasks for its people.

The official Soviet news agency Tass reported in London that the Chinese Communist government has issued a directive which calls on the Chinese people to intensify the struggle against "American aggression" in Korea. It also warns them they must struggle against the arming of Japan.

Secondly, the directive calls on the people to restore and develop agriculture and industry and as a third point says there must be an increase in the exchange of goods between town and country to develop trade and a cooperative movement.

The directive hinted at domestic sabotage by saying that the dictatorship of the "peoples' democracy" must be consolidated by "suppression of the counter-revolutionary activity."

The final point of the five-point plan calls on the population to prepare for gigantic economic construction in the future.

Easter Hearing Held To Air Gambling Case

LONDON, O., March 27—Justice of the Peace Maurice Beathard of London held court on Easter and fined five men on gambling charges.

They were arrested in a raid Saturday night in a building owned by Elden Hardin, who was sick in bed. Hardin is to be accused of keeping a room for gambling and exhibiting gambling devices for gain as soon as he is able to appear in court.

A police and sheriff's posse confiscated three poker tables, one dice table, two blackjacks, cards, chips and $107.65.

Squire Beathard ordered the gambling equipment destroyed and the money turned over to the Madison County treasurer.

He fined Raymond Payne $100 and costs and sentenced him to 10 days, with the latter suspended; Ballard Starks and Tom Whitlow $50 and costs with $10 suspended; Earl Little and Bill Bailey, $50 and costs with $30 suspended.

Rubber Industry Tightening Up On Civil Output

WASHINGTON, March 27—The rubber industry has started to revise production schedules to conform with the government's latest announcement reducing non-defense supplies of rubber nine percent.

Officials said action of the National Production Authority will force automakers to eliminate spare tires from new cars and curb output of most other civilian goods made with rubber.

NPA said that the nine percent cut in non-military rubber supplies will take effect April 1. The order will be issued next week.

The agency had hoped to allocate 90,000 tons of new rubber in April, but reduced the figure to 82,000 tons because of shut downs at synthetic plants and 40 percent jump in military requirements.

To keep tires and tubes moving in the market, NPA said it will also limit inventories of the two important auto materials to a 30-day supply in the hands of wholesalers and retailers.

The agency said it will set aside 5,000 tons of rubber out of total civilian allocations to be used in filling orders for main-

Farmer's Net Income Drops

WASHINGTON, March 27—An Agriculture Department farm income report shows that marketings in 1950 were less profitable than in 1949 in the majority of states.

Total 1950 cash receipts were down from 1949 in 32 states and up in only 16.

Farm net income, meanwhile, tenance, repair and operation of industry.

In addition, supplies of natural rubber latex, used in making girdles and other products will be cut in April from 6,000 tons to 4,400 tons.

was eight percent less in 1950 than in 1949. Preliminary estimates indicate farmers' total realized net income was $13 billion in 1950, compared with $14.1 billion in 1949.

A NOISY FIGHT
PRESIDENT Truman advocates spending still more money on the Voice Of America, international radio network supposed to set a backfire against the Soviet Union's propaganda. He says people under Soviet control do not hear anything but Moscow's propaganda and intimates the radio Voice Of America can offset this if it is given unlimited funds.

Against that view is the unanimous report from satellite countries. Police raid homes of citizens known to possess radios capable of tuning in Washington's propaganda broadcasts. Those who have been listening are punished. Radios are being supplanted by "loudspeakers" connected with Russian radio networks and capable only of relaying their messages.

Gigantic jamming stations have been set up by Russia and satellite red governments to keep the Voice Of America from being heard.

In this situation, what would be the advantage of spending more millions? If the Voice were made louder on the chance it would be heard, the Soviet would only send out a louder counter-noise.

Probably the only way to get the message of the American way of life beyond the iron curtain is by word of mouth, by underground missionaries. In the fight between decibels of sound on the radio Russia, being on the ground, has all the advantage.

A FORTIFIED NATION
AFTER a slow start which was disturbing to the American people, the national defense program now is making real progress. Approximately 50 per cent of the $97,000,000,000 appropriated for military spending has been allocated. This will go for military construction and the production of arms.

Arms contracts totalling approximately $10,000,000,000 have been let, and although production is still slow, it is showing steady increase, according to reports from Washington.

Late in 1952 the nation will be thoroughly armed, with much emphasis placed on air strength. It is planned to reactivate many air centers, increase the size of others, and in a few instances build new ones.

There is to be a system of air fields and training centers which will cover the entire nation. Mobilization of manpower will keep pace with other efforts, and the goal of 4-000,000 well trained and armed men will be reached at the same time.

This nation is giving the only answer to Russia the communists can understand.

Basketball

NEW YORK—The winter of 1950-51 will be remembered, long after the snows have fallen,
as the season of disillusionment for the sports mob
in Manhattan.

For this has turned into the winter when it has become virtually impossible to find an honest college basketball player in town. The fixed-game scandals, of course, have shot the props from under the sport in the East, and it is unlikely that any Phoenix will rise from these ashes.

To the casual observer, this may be just another messy affair in sports, but in New York it goes a little deeper than that. All cities have their sports
—Boston is a baseball town, Massillon, O., is football mad, Montreal would sell its soul for a hockey game—and basketball is this one's.

There are no green playing fields of Eton in Manhattan; the crowded streets are the grids, the parking lots are the diamonds. Basketball promptly becomes the favorite sport, and because New York children are tempered in a whirling, hysterical crucible, their sharp reflexes and stepped-up thinking processes make them natural for the game. Until the seven-foot goons took over the domination of the sport, New York year after year was the basketball king of America.

On summer Sundays when it's too damp to play tennis, I wander down from my house to the Polo Grounds to watch the Giants play baseball. There's a whole string of cement playgrounds on the way—and in every one, in the very middle of summer, you see kids shooting baskets and yelling to each other "Ah, who ya think ya are? Ed Roman?"

I have an idea the playgrounds will be a little emptier this summer.
Greedy colleges, coaches and promoters have, as they say along Broadway, loused up the sport that was New York's own. Slowly, surely, the chagrined and disillusioned crowds are streaming back to the only honest sport of them all—horseracing. Was that squeaky sound the raising of an eyebrow?

George E. Sokolsky's
These Days

One Sunday recently, I took my children to Philadelphia to look at Independence Hall, the Liberty Bell, and other historic evidences of the founding of our country enshrined in that building. I think that parents would strengthen their children's love of country if they, even for once in their lives, walked the floor upon which Washington and Jefferson and Franklin stood on the occasion of the founding of this country. It gives one a feeling of continuity, of belonging to a grand tradition. It relates one to the great spiritual strength of America.

I was, however, disappointed by the environment. The streets are narrow and shabby. There is a little park in front of the building, but not an impressive one. My little girl wanted to see Betsy Ross's house, where our first national flag was sewn,
and we drove through narrow Arch street where we stopped in front of 239.

The house is buried in a mass of buildings and is perhaps best recognized by a replica of our first flag that hangs on a pole from it.

We wanted to see where Benjamin Franklin was buried in Christ Church cemetery and even to enter Christ Church itself, but parking was difficult. Yet it was in that church that the fathers of our country prayed for guidance on those occasions when they wrote the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution.

I am told that a plan is afoot to turn this invaluable historic area into a national historical park. Since Jan. 1 of this year, Independence Hall and the group of historic buildings adjacent to it are under the National Park Service of the Department of the Interior.

More than that is necessary to preserve
these monuments. They should be restored.
Independence Hall, for instance, needs a coat of paint on the interior walls. Peeling ceilings are not impressive, particularly to young children. Could not the grand dining room of this building, which also served as a hospital, be restored, so that when the hall is visited, children can see, in their keen imaginations, the great figures who risked their lives that this might be a nation of free men?

With all the billions of dollars that the United States has been spending all over the world for every variety of boondoggling, why has nothing been done until now to restore the entire area, from Spruce to Arch Street, from Second to Sixth Street, into a shrine to American patriotism? I look at a map of the "Independence National Historical Park Project" and I cannot help wondering why it is still a project after 175 years. Why do we have to wait to do the fine things when we can waste so much on the meaningless?

Are Americans so lacking in sentiment, so impotent in their love of tradition that it has taken them this long to rescue the most sacred spot in all this country from obscurity and vandalism? How shall we instill in our children the ideals of our nation if we fail to show any interest in our national monuments?

Politicians are now busily engaged in plans to save the RFC, convinced that a new set of officials who will be more wary is what the outfit needs.

Drug Aids Ulcer of Stomach

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

IN recent years, many patients with severe stomach ulcer have been treated by operation to cut the vagus nerve which governs the activity and movements of the stomach.

Results of this measure have led doctors on a search for drugs which might have the same effect in depressing the activity of this nerve and hence curtailing stomach motion. Among those found is one known as tetraethyl ammonium chloride.

A study was made of 27 patients, with various types of ulcer of the stomach and bowel, who were treated with the preparation. Some ulcers of the stomach are what are known as penetrating ulcers, that is, they have eaten deep into the tissues. In five of the patients with this type of ulcer, the tetraethyl ammonium chloride was started immediately upon admission to the hospital because of the need to control pain.

Eighteen other patients were first put on a standard ulcer management, including diet, rest in bed, and alkaline preparations, as well as such drugs as belladonna, and such quieting preparations as the barbiturates. After this treatment had been carried out for varying periods of time on these patients, it was stopped, and the drug tetraethyl ammonium chlo-ride was started. The time of starting the drug depended upon whether or not the standard form of treatment gave relief from pain.

In all but one case the drug was given by injection into a muscle and, in most instances, it was administered twice a day. All cases of ulcer with severe pain responded to the treatment with immediate relief from pain, and this pain relief could be maintained as long as the drug was administered.

Spasm is Relieved
The pain of ulcer, it is thought, is due to stretching of the stomach. When the tetraethyl ammonium chloride is administered, it blocks the action of the vagus nerve, the movements of the stomach are halted, and spasm is relieved. In this way, the stretching of the stomach cannot continue, and pain disappears.

It would appear that the drug is an effective agent for relieving severe pain in peptic ulcer. Whether or not its continued use would produce a cure cannot as yet be stated. With this preparation, there may be occasional slight blurring of the vision and some lowering of the blood pressure, but these symptoms are not severe.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
B. L. M.: In a man, 64 years of age, what would cause loss of sense of taste?
Answer: The amount of saliva
in the mouth decreases in persons between 50 and 70 years of age and loss of the sense of taste is not unusual. Contributing causes may be excessive smoking, infections, or a deficiency of the vitamin B-complex.

CHAPTER TWENTY-FIVE
QUINT's worry that Jennet would reproach him for writing to her father of her whereabouts had been a waste of feeling; not once since she had appeared in the door of the parlor had her glance come to him. All that rebellious talk of hers had been just talk... Anger stirred in him over a deep disappointment in the girl.

The talk had turned to Newark.
"It's a little gem of a place," declared Richard. "The elite of Canada live there. Fine big houses, broad avenues—a nice afternoon and the ladies promenade along the avenues. I'm told there is as much fashion there as in New York City. They have musicals and teas—scarcely a day when there isn't a soiree of some sort.
You will like it, Sis." Richard turned his smile on Rhoda. "And you, too, Aunt."

"Are there shops and dressmakers?" pressed Jennet.

"The ladies shop in York where may be bought the best that England has to send over. Neither of you will lack for fol-de-rols. Will they, Ken?"

Sir Kenneth affirmed it.
Quint saw the glitter in Rhoda's eyes that had been in them when she handled the silk Jennet gave her. He heard Jennet saying,
"Newark must be a perfectly delightful place in which to live!"

The meal over, they returned to the parlor. At the door Quint started to excuse himself but Rhoda commanded him by a look to stay.

"A little music, Jen, to finish
this pleasant evening?" suggested Richard.

"A song, perhaps?" Sir Kenneth took Jennet's hand and led her to the piano.

She sat down on the stool, arranged her skirts, flashed a quick upward glance at the young man beside her, then put her hands on the keys.

"Drink to me only with thine eyes,
And I will pledge with mine..."

When she finished and turned on the stool, Sir Kenneth caught her hands, bent over them.

"I would not change for thine,"
he repeated.

Jennet drew her hands from his hold, got to her feet. "Thank you, Sir Kenneth." She stammered it, as if she did not have her breath under control. She said, without looking at anyone, "If I may be excused—I've much to do..."

Richard sprang up, patted her shoulder. "That's right—you get yourself ready like a good girl.
Eleven o'clock—not a moment
later."

SPONSORED BY THIS NEWSPAPER

If you want to see to it that your candy-loving youngster is not suffering from an unbalanced diet you should follow some of the suggestions in "Body Building Dishes for Children," the twenty-second title in the Culinary Arts Institute series of twenty-four cookbooks that are currently being released to readers of The Circleville Herald.

This remarkable cookbook is designed to help mothers cook in the best possible way so that they will serve nourishing as well as attractive foods to their children. For instance, many mothers realize that their children eat too much cheap candy but they do not know what to do about it. Here is an excellent suggestion from Body Building Dishes for Children that turns the children's love for candy into a useful way to give them added vitamins and nourishment:

CANDIED GRAPEFRUIT PEEL

1 large grapefruit
Cold water
Sugar

Wash grapefruit, peel and cut the rind into pieces 1/4 inch wide. Cover with cold water. Heat to boiling and boil 5 minutes; repeat 3 times. Boil rind in a fourth water until tender, then drain and place in a fifth water, adding 1 cup of sugar to each cup of rind. Boil until the liquid becomes a thick sirup. Drain and roll in sugar.

The sirup may be flavored with a few drops almond extract.

CANDIED ORANGE PEEL

Use 4 large navel oranges instead of grapefruit rind and boil in 3 waters instead of 5.

All you need to do to get your copy of Body Building Dishes for Children is to present 15 cents to

Guild Members Seek Jobs

Members of Berger Hospital Guild 21 are going to be seeking jobs as baby sitters, seamstresses or cleaning women.

At the Guild meeting held Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Donald Mason of North Court street the club set a certain sum for each woman to earn as part of the years project. It was emphasized that they must earn it—not just take it from the regular household money.

It was also agreed to raise the dues per meeting of the Guild to obtain additional funds for the project which will be decided on at the April meeting.

Election of officers was held with the following chosen: president, Mrs. Karl Mason; vice-president, Mrs. John Magill; secretary, Mrs. Charles Goeller; treasurer, Mrs. William Crist; publicity, Mrs. Charles DeVoss and sales tax, Mrs. Donald Mason.

The group will meet April 16th in the home of Mrs. Karl Mason on Watt street.

TRACTOR DISPUTE AIRED

$341.6 Million Law Suit Opens In New York Court

NEW YORK, March 27—The biggest lawsuit in American history, a $341,600,000 patent suit against the Ford Motor Co., began yesterday in New York federal court.

Plaintiff in the case—expected to last at least three months and possibly longer—is Harry Ferguson, an Irish-born inventor who claims the Ford company appropriated his system of linking tractors to farm machinery.

He is suing as an individual and in the name of Harry Ferguson, Inc., his Detroit company. Defendants are the Ford Motor Co. and its president, Henry Ford 2nd, three subsidiaries and eight of their executives.

The long opening statement that launched the record suit was read to the court by John Sonnett, former head of the anti-trust division of the Department of Justice, Ferguson's chief attorney. Ferguson himself was on hand for the start, although it appeared that the testimony stage of the case still was far off.

EXCEPT FOR routine court preliminaries, Sonnett's statement setting forth the issues occupied the opening session. Counsel for both sides said the case would be a lengthy one. The plaintiff's case alone, newsmen were told, will require five to six weeks to present, and defense counsel said its side of the issues will take as long or longer to present.

In addition to the patent infringement claim, the suit also charges that the defendants violated the Sherman and Clayton Anti-Trust Acts.

Ferguson claims he had a "handshake agreement" with the late Henry Ford under which the Ford company began manufacturing his hydraulic tractor in 1939 under the name of "Ford Tractor-Ferguson System."

He says this verbal agreement was broken in July 1947 and that since then the Ford company has been putting out a copy of the tractor as its own.

At the time the suit was filed in 1948 Henry Ford 2nd issued a statement calling it "ridiculous" and "full of untruths." He added:

"The blunt truth about this relationship is that it made Mr. Ferguson a multi-millionaire and cost the Ford Motor Co. $25 million in the process."

Ferguson, who lives in England, arrived in New York last week to be present at the trial.

Munich Adoption Is Under Fire By Publications

CINCINNATI, March 27 — An American Legion post and a Jewish weekly publication are on record opposing selection of Munich, "holiest city of the Nazis," as sister city to Cincinnati.

Cincinnati city council is weighing a recommendation that Munich, Germany, be accepted as the city's affiliate.

Attorney Alvin H. Rowe, chairman of a Legion post's Americanism committee, wrote the state department yesterday that many Cincinnatians were opposed to the acceptance of Munich.

In an ironic note, he suggested the Queen City might adopt "bomb-struck Coventry," England, or even some of its own slum blocks.

Rowe suggested the state department, which has been considering sending a negotiator to Cincinnati to help iron out the argument, should keep its man in Washington.

The American Israelite suggested all Western European cities should be considered eligible for adoption.

The publication editorialized: "Munich has had the benefit of six years of on-the-spot American advice on Democracy and has rejected the invitation to adopt Democratic ways. Munich was and is synonymous with Hitlerism."

Newcomerstown Killer Is Given Parole Chance

COLUMBUS, March 27—Clyde Bourne of Newcomerstown, convicted of participating in the first degree murder of a Tuscarawas County farm couple, got an "Easter commutation" of his life term sentence from Governor Lausche.

The commutation of Bourne's sentence from first to second degree murder, makes him eligible for a parole hearing.

Bourne was convicted with Chester Smith and David Miller of killing Elijah and Naomi Cramblett in 1933 when he was 21. He arrived at the penitentiary Nov. 11, 1933, and has been a trusty since 1944.

For the last two years the former farm laborer has worked in the yard of the governor's mansion and has served occasionally as the governor's chauffeur.

Lausche said Miller hired Bourne and Smith to kill the Cramblett for $25.

Miller was suspected of having set fire to 14 Tuscarawas County barns.

Testimony in the murder trial showed Miller asked Cramblett to set fire to the barn of a neighbor against whom Miller had a grudge, but Cramblett reported the incident to the police.

That was when Miller hired Bourne and Smith to do away with the Cramblett. All three men were given life terms.

Miller still is in the penitentiary, but Smith escaped from London prison farm in 1946 and never has been returned.

Illegal Surgery Claimed By Con

COLUMBUS, March 27 — A Lima state hospital surgeon is the defendant today in an $850,000 suit filed by a former Ohio Penitentiary inmate who charges the physician with performing an "illegal" operation on him.

Henry F. Humphries, 31, who started a 20 to 50 year term in 1943 for armed robbery and as-

Sokolsky's These Days

In a way, I must say that I came away hurt, because my children, who said it was all wonderful, betrayed their own disillusionment. The rooms were so bare. They had been to Plymouth where they saw the Pilgrims' Houses and Plymouth Rock. They have not yet been to Williamsburg in Virginia or to the Lincoln shrine in New Salem, Ill.

When they are taken to those places, their imagination will roam among living things. Here at Independence Hall that feeling of the living is missing and children must have that if they are to understand the quality of a place.

No millions are too many to spend upon a complete restoration of this area, until an American child can see in his mind's eye the grand flourish of John Hancock's pen and the aged Benjamin Franklin being assisted to his seat, and the philosophic Thomas Jefferson writing: "When in the course of human events..." and realize that it was to this place that George Washington rode to assume a leadership that is never to be forgotten.

Perhaps if we made much of our national shrines and brought our children to them, they would be more truly bound, in these queer and disconcerting days, to our great national traditions.

sault with intent to kill and rob, filed a petition yesterday in common pleas court against Dr. Lowell O. Dillon.

Humphries was transferred to Lima March 31, 1945. The operation allegedly took place May 26, 1948, and the prisoner returned to the penitentiary July 20 of that year.

42nd Accounting Is Made Here In 1882 Will

Forty-second partial account of a trust fund set up under the will of Marcus Brown late in the last century has been filed in Pickaway County probate court, showing a balance on hand of $11,079.21.

The Brown will was admitted to probate in 1882. Under it a $10,000 perpetual trust fund was set up for the use and benefit of needy blind in Circleville Township. The $1,079.21 over the $10,000 trust represents earnings.

Also filed was an application for compensation by Trustees Charles Fellers, George Gerhardt and Tom A. Renick.

The trustees asked the court to fix reasonable compensation for services since March 16, 1949. The application states that in that period $1,012.25 has been taken in and $878.19 paid out.

May Draft Call Tentatively Set At 13 Counties

The May call for Pickaway County Selective Service inductees has been tentatively set at 13, according to local draft officials.

Also in May, 11 men will be sent to Columbus for pre-induction physical examinations.

The call, lower than previous ones, apparently follows a recent Defense Department announcement cutting the April draft call in half, from 80,000 to 40,000.

Reason given for the cut was that enlistments have been unusually strong.

No cut has been announced here in the April call, however. Draft officials here said that 17 men will be sent for induction and 24 for physicals in April.

New Substance May Be Aid To Cancer Cure

CHICAGO, March 27—Development of a new substance showing great promise in the management of cancer was announced today at a meeting of 62 of the nation's top cancer specialists in Chicago.

Experiments with the material—now called krebiozen—were reported by Dr. A. C. Ivy, vice-president in charge of the University of Illinois professional schools.

Dr. Ivy, who has directed the clinical investigation of krebiozen over the last 18 months, said it is a serum taken from horses.

Thus far, Dr. Ivy cautioned, the serum has been used on far too few patients—only 22—to allow complete evaluation of its merits.

He explained: "We are deliberately letting both the medical profession and the lay public behind the scenes at this time because we believe that only a wide clinical participation can give us answers quickly."

"I believe krebiozen merits a thorough clinical study and evaluation."

Discoverer of the serum, Dr. Ivo told the specialists, was Dr. Stevan Durovic, a native of Yugoslavia who now makes his home in Kenilworth, Ill.

Based on the University of Illinois' experience, Dr. Ivy declared, krebiozen's great merit is that it is non-toxic. Many other drugs and serum which check the rapid growth of cancer cells have been discovered, but these destroy normal tissue as well and are useless for all practical purposes.

Auto License Deadline Near, Registrar Warns

Pickaway County auto and truck owners were warned Monday that they have only one more week of driving left in their 1950 license plates.

All autos in operation here after midnight Saturday must be equipped with the new blue and white 1951 license plates.

Police Chief William F. McCrady warned that he will instruct his officers to nab the driver of any car in operation after the Saturday midnight deadline which does not have the new plates.

Joe Brink, Circleville's deputy registrar, said his office in Pickaway Courthouse will observe special hours during the final three days of the week.

"We'll be open to sell tags until 9 p. m. Thursday and Friday," Brink said, "and I suppose we will stay open until about midnight Saturday."

Brink said that his office has sold approximately 2,300 auto and truck tags altogether to date and anticipates selling nearly 1,000 more during the final week.

"We can handle about 60 applicants an hour if they have everything ready," Brink said. "They only need their certificate of title and registration card."

The registrar added that this year's sales so far are about 150 ahead of last year's sales at this time.

Movie Star Said Framed In Court

Madge Meredith Case
Heard By Assembly

SACRAMENTO, Cal., March 27—Accusations that Film Actress Madge Meredith was the victim of a frameup, a hoax, and was railroaded into the California state prison for women two years ago were made in the state legislature yesterday.

The explosion came while Gov. Earl Warren considered a recommendation by the California Adult Authority Parole Board that Miss Meredith's five-year-to-life sentence be commuted to time served.

Miss Meredith, whose real name is Marjorie Mae Massow and now is 28 years old, was convicted of complicity in the kidnaping and beating of her former manager, Nick Gianacalis, and his bodyguard, Verne Davis.

"The case of Miss Meredith," declared the state assembly interim committee on crime and corrections, "from beginning to end, is a mockery of investigation, of defense counseling, of trial procedure, and of justice itself."

THE REPORT OF the committee, headed by Assemblyman Vernon Kilpatrick of Los Angeles, said in part:

"This conviction of Miss Massow (Madge Meredith) prompted numerous prominent, respected citizens to voice before this committee a protest that justice had not been served. That the crime itself was a hoax, and Miss Massow was, in fact, the victim of a 'frame.'"

The unusual formal report to the legislature continues:

"There is shocking evidence of perjury, suppression of evidence, prejudice, and an almost unbelievable reluctance on the part of defense counsel to investigate the cause of Defendant Massow (Madge Meredith). Nor are the tactics of the prosecution above reproach. That witnesses were intimidated is a matter of court record."

"One of the most disturbing factors found by the subcommittee was the failure of defense counsel to call three key witnesses. There is evidence, in fact, that the defense made little if no effort to seek out and interview said witnesses."

The case was prosecuted by Deputy District Attorney J. Miller Leavy. Miss Meredith was defended by Attorney Ward Sullivan.

The report added: "Appeals by Miss Massow (Madge Meredith) before the second district court of appeals and the state supreme court were denied. She now is in her third year of a minimum ten-year sentence."

It was June 30, 1947, says the report that the "kidnaping and assault" occurred. Albert W.

8 Applications Are Made Here For Hog Permits

Eight applications for hog permits have been submitted to Circleville health department so far in the current drive to require all owners of the animals to obtain permission to keep them within the city limits.

Health Commissioner C. O. Leist said the deadline for obtaining the permits is April 1. He explained that the permits are issued only after an inspection of the premises where the hogs are to be kept.

Leist estimated that about 25 permits will be issued altogether.

10,950 Acres Soil Surveyed In This County

Last year, 10,950 acres were surveyed in the Pickaway County Soil Conservation District, according to William E. Reese of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service.

This increases to 58,633 the total acreage surveyed in the district from the time of its organization in 1944 to the present.

A soil conservation survey is a physical inventory of the land, and will show the variations that affect its use, management and treatment. It consists of the identification and mapping of specific land conditions such as soil type, soil loss due to erosion, and degree of slope.

Certain other conditions such as drainage ways, sink holes, and swampy areas, are mapped where necessary. Land usage at the time of the survey is also mapped as it is essential information for conservation planning.

The soil conservation survey determines the land classifications and these are the bases for the development of farm conservation plans by the Pickaway County farmers in cooperation with James A. Muster, farm planner for the Pickaway Conservation District.

For 1951 plans, groups of farmers have had surveys made in Scioto, Madison and Perry

State Demands Meat Price Law Be Enforced

COLUMBUS, March 27—The state of Ohio has made the formal demand on meat packers to comply with the law and supply meat needed for institutional use during April at ceiling prices.

Governor Lausche made the demand after telephone conversations with Price Stabilizer Michael DiSalle and Sidney Hess, regional director of the Cleveland OPS office.

Governor Lausche asserted: "In accordance with the law, the state is notifying packers we expect them to supply us in April at ceiling prices the same quantity of meat they supplied to us in the corresponding period of 1950."

The demand, however, may not alleviate completely the institutions' critical meat shortage. Lausche pointed out that Hess informed him that, under the law, the suppliers have the entire month of April and an added "grace period" of 15 days the following month to meet the demand.

The governor declared that "if Tucker received a sentence (similar to that of Miss Meredith), as a participant in the crime. Damon Klinkenberg and James Hatfield received 30 to 60 days respectively in the county jail."

the state paid prices in excess of those set by the ceiling, it would be violating the law. We must obtain the meat and can do so only by asking for enforcement of the federal law."

Saddler Set To Meet Salas

LOS ANGELES, March 27—World Featherweight Champion Sandy Saddler gives Los Angeles fans a look at his lethal fists tonight when he faces Lauro Salas, holder of the California 126-pound crown, in a scheduled 10-round non-title bout in Olympic Auditorium.

The chief question in the opinion of observers appears to be whether Salas will be able to stay the limit against the hard-punching champion, who won by a nine-round TKO over Salas in Cleveland a year ago. Saddler is a solid 4-1 favorite.

Garden Gets Blessing Of 3 Colleges

Basketball Games Returning To Arena

NEW YORK, March 27—Scandal-scarred Madison Square Garden will be saved from the fate of a haunted house next basketball season.

Just when it looked as if the management might be forced to resort to the running of dances to keep the place occupied next winter, three New York schools, two of them with fix scandal troubles, came to its rescue.

Manhattan college, New York university and St. John's all agreed to play in the Garden next season. They issued a joint statement yesterday absolving the big arena from the "unclean, unclean" tag placed on it by the still-expanding hoop mess.

NYU, Manhattan, CNY, and LIU have 14 players and former players involved in the game-rigging case. City College was not represented at the conference held by school officials and Garden representatives which brought about the decision to return.

BUT HARRY WRIGHT, president of last year's national championship school, said City would play "if the board of higher education approves."

Long Island dropped intercollegiate sports when it was disclosed that some of its players were involved in throwing games.

The presidents of the three schools who attended the conference termed the belief that the Garden is responsible for widespread gambling a "myth."

They announced they have been given a bigger hand in running the money-making double-headers at the arena.

The new setup calls for an operational sub-committee composed of representatives of the schools and a Garden official. This group will determine ticket prices, ticket allotments, team accommodations, radio and television schedules and other policy.

It was pointed out that returning the games to the campuses would not solve the problem. The school heads maintained that the demand for tickets by students and alumni is too great.

They said the student enrollment alone exceeds the capacities in their gyms.

"In spite of college gymnasiums in spite even of education permeated with ethical, cultural and religious principles, it is still possible to have corruption, if the individual does not exercise courageously the powers of his own personality," they added.

Pep Wins Easy 10-Round Bout

MIAMI BEACH, March 27—Willie Pep, the Hartford, Conn., battler on the comeback trail, treated young Pat Iacobucci to an exhibition of boxing skill last night in pounding out a unanimous 10-round decision in Miami Beach Auditorium.

The former feather weight champ won every round from his 22-year-old Cincinnati opponent. No knockdowns were scored in the almost bloodless bout. Pep is angling for a return match with Sandy Saddler, who won the title from Pep last year.

Ailing Player May Spell Doom For Kentucky

MINNEAPOLIS, March 27—A doctor's report brought joy to Kansas State today and gloom to Kentucky for tonight's NCAA basketball championship game.

Guard Ernie Barrett of K-State was treated for an injured shoulder and Coach Jack Gardner was assured his leading scorer will be able to play.

But Forward Cliff Hagan of Kentucky suddenly became ill and was sent to bed with a sore throat after being given penicillin. The physician's diagnosis was: "A touch of flu."

The talented Kentucky sophomore will be examined again before game time to determine whether he will be able to play at least part of the contest.

The medical reports on the teams caused the early odds on Kentucky to drop and left the Southeastern Conference champs only an even bet to win.

Coach Adolph Rupp says his Kentucky squads have been favored in every other contest they have played since 1936. He will make no predictions other than to say the "game will be very close."

Illinois meets Oklahoma A and M for third place honors in the first game tonight.

A crowd of 18,000 is expected to witness the contest at the University of Minnesota's Williams Arena.

Kentucky won the NCAA crown in 1948 and 1949 and may become the first three-time champions in the 13-year history of the tourney.

T To Be Served As Bucks Start Spring Practice

COLUMBUS, March 27—The "T" is the style of football play favored by OSU Coach Woody Hayes and will be consumed by a squad of 26 lettermen returning to the gridiron today to begin Spring practice.

Among the veterans back to brighten the Buckeyes' stockpile of football fortunes are Vic Janowicz and Skippy Doyle, the two backs who were ruled ineligible at the close of Fall quarters because of scholastic deficiencies.

Both are returning to classes for the Spring quarter.

Even the Army will get into the act with Soldiers Joe Campanella and Dick Anderson competing between the Buck campus and Lockbourne Airforce Base.

Hayes' first week of instruction at OSU will feature both instruction and practical performance. Hayes believes in the learn-by-doing method but only after his charges have learned what to do by observing.

Besides teaching the "T" formation, Woody will be looking for a T-quarterback. The Buck mentor is not committing himself by sounding off names, but Tony Curcillo, Tommy Hague and Bill Wilks are being touted by observers as the "most probable" candidates for the "T" signal caller.

Military School Signs Watson

COLUMBUS, March 27—Tom Watson, four-letter varsity footballer at Ohio State university, will become head grid coach at Western Military Academy, Alton, Ill., in September.

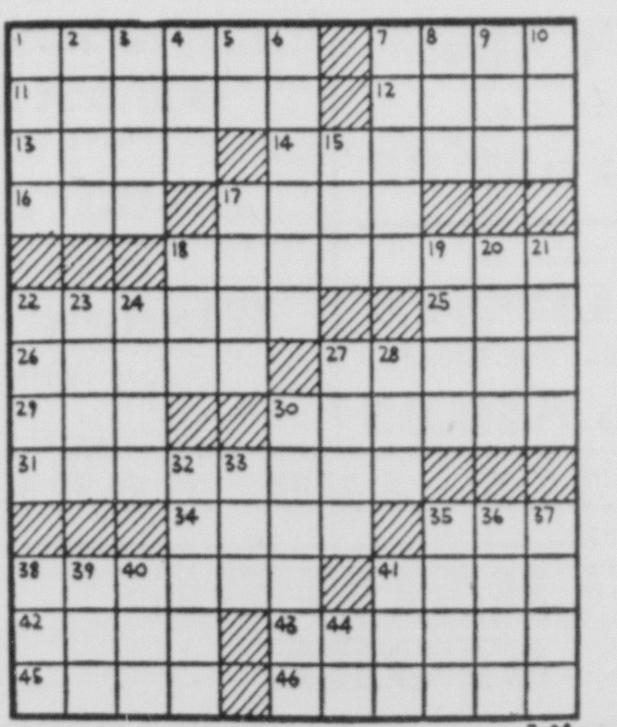

Watson, who lives in Urbana and who will marry in June when he graduates, also will be assistant commandant at the Illinois prep school.

Mr. Schneider Says--

Last Summer when the Korean War started, and prices began to RISE, we decided to protect ourselves and our customers, by placing huge orders at the OLD LOW PRICES, with all of our suppliers, so not to be caught by higher prices, shortages etc.

However, we ordered entirely too much, and today our 3 BIG SALES FLOORS, and warehouses are packed and jammed beyond capacity and more is arriving daily.

We had to do something quick, so employed Mr. Wm. E. Loeber, nationally known Furniture and Appliance LIQUIDATOR, under contract to SELL AT LEAST $60,000 worth of this SURPLUS STOCK.

I particularly want to invite our many old friends and customers to this truly great MONEY SAVING EVENT.
